SESSION 4: 2023 - 24

"Prevailing Power of Patriarchy"

This subject explores the stark contrast between males and females in contemporary society, particularly in terms of financial recognition and audience support. This discrepancy is notably prominent in the entertainment and corporate sectors, where men tend to receive more praise than women, regardless of their dedication and effort.

Discuss and Grow Session 4 Report

Activity Name: Discuss and Grow Session on Prevailing power of patriarchy

Date: 26th March, 2023

Time: 9:15 AM

Venue: MCA 102

Aim: To cultivate a dynamic and inclusive student centric platform where students can engage in open forum discussions on abstract subjects, fostering a spirit of critical thinking, empathy, and camaraderie as they collectively explore significant current events and issues, thereby promoting personal growth and a deeper sense of community within our institution.

Number of Participants: 10

Mentor: Rumana Shethwala

Initiators: Sanya, Mansi, Vanshika

Facilitators: Aarushi Vishwanathan, Akshita Gairola, Hastha R and Rumana Shethwala

Outcomes:

During the discussion on the prevailing power of patriarchy, the speakers delved into various thought-provoking topics and questions to engage the audience and garner diverse viewpoints. They explored themes such as gender inequality, systemic oppression, historical contexts, and the intersectionality of identities. In particular, they shed light on alarming issues like female foeticide and the non-acceptance of girl children in certain societies, illustrating the devastating consequences of patriarchal norms and attitudes. Through this discourse, they aimed to highlight how individuals, particularly marginalized groups, are impacted by patriarchal structures, leading to issues like gender-based violence, wage gaps, reproductive rights infringements, and mental health disparities. The conversation sparked empathy and understanding for the experiences of those affected by patriarchy, fostering a more inclusive and equitable environment on campus while strengthening solidarity among students.
